

Dott. Franck Renouard

15° Congresso Nazionale della Società Italiana di Parodontologia "Metodologia in Parodontologia ed Implantologia" -
Bologna, 6-8 Marzo 2008

“ Gli impianti corti o angolati sono clinicamente affidabili?”

Posterior resorbed jaws represent the challenge for the surgeon. Advanced surgical therapies were developed in order to place the longest implants as possible. However, Literature review and theoretical analysis reveal that the success rate of short implants could be compared to the longer implants one's. The goal of the lecture is to demonstrate that short implants could be used in routine practice with a high success rate with, may be, a better biomechanical prognosis.