Aims

SIDP's main aim is the prevention and diagnosis of diseases of the periodontal tissues in conjunction with their functional and aesthetic rehabilitation by periodontal, prosthetic and implant procedures.

Today it counts over 2.700 members.

SIDP has contributed and still contributes to the development of scientific knowledge in periodontics, implant dentistry and related biomedical disciplines mainly through a broad spectrum of cultural activities ranging from National and International meetings, courses, communication projects, publications and the yearly issuing of several awards.

Meetings

The scientific meetings are designed to provide dentists, dental hygienists and students with a comprehensive updated information in clinical periodontology and implantology.

This program is promoted through the organization of:

- N. 1 Annual Congress
- N. 2 Continuing Education Courses
- N. 1 CadaverLab session in Implant Surgery on anatomical preparations
- 1 Annual Course (theory and practice) in Periodontology and Implantology (for Dentists)
- 1 Annual Course (theory and practice) in Periodontology (for Dental Hygienists)

Collaboration with the most important International and National scientific Societies and Foundations.

Study Clubs

A completely free educational opportunity offered by the Society to the SIDP Members (Dentists, Dental Hygienists and Students), with the objective of sharing and discussing clinical cases and personal experiences in 3 friendly and informal meetings/year.

26 Study Clubs
for Dentists and 16 for Dental Hygienists have been set up for the year 2023.

SLP Young

2 Meetings/year specifically designed and reserved for Dentist Members under 40-years old.
